FUNERAL PROCESSION FOR PERU'S AVALANCHE VICTIMS—This is a view of the funeral procession in Yungay, Peru, for victims killed in last week's avalanche from Mt. Terrorists Kill 48 In Algiers

116 Injured As Fighting Continues

ALGIERS (AP)—In this city of death, Albatross regularly flashes an alert for Chicago.

Sirens scream and police cars speed through the streets. French or Moslem terrorists have found new victims.

Albatross is the Algiers police radio network. Chicago means a shooting by Moslem or European terrorists.

Every day at 6 p.m., in a half-abandoned government building guarded by five armored cars, seven half-tracks and a company of gendarmes, the day's toll of dead is read.

A young civil servant trainee puts together what is known as "the hunting board."

The countrywide weekend toll just before the 11 p.m. curfew Sunday night was 48 dead, including 35 Moslems and 13 Europeans, and 116 wounded, including 68 Moslems and 48 Europeans.

At night, darkness and silence shroud the ancient Moslem Casbah that no European dares enter.

On an adjacent street, near a half-filled garbage can, an old Moslem beggar lies motionless. A steel-helmeted French soldier walks slowly by, reporting over his walkie-talkie that all is quiet.

Nearby, in an officer's club, the transfer back to France of a commander is celebrated. Champagne toasts are raised.

In a brightly lit apartment near the university, carpets are rolled up while a record player blares late American tunes. Someone shows the twist and 10 European couples try to imitate the movement. The girls in bare-shouldered

New Rainfall Here Totals Half-Inch

Despite sub-zero weather last week, it's been a rainy winter—thus far, at least—for Salem district residents.

A steady rain today, beginning early this morning, brought a half-inch of precipitation. Thermometers had "warmed up" to 37 degrees following a pleasant Sunday when sunshine was much in evidence.

The district has had several days since right before Christmas when heavy rainfall was recorded. A little colder weather might have produced deep snow but the area has had only one appreciable snowfall to date.

The other heavy rains were Jan. 6, when a half-inch was measured, and a half-inch Dec. 19 and 20.

New Snow In Midwest

Meanwhile today, heavy wet snow blanketed broad areas of the Midwest today, piling atop the big covering still on the ground from last week's storm.

The storm, which swept northeastward from eastern Kansas and Oklahoma dumped from one up to more than six inches of snow in a belt extending from northern Missouri across northwestern Illinois into southeast Wisconsin and western lower Michigan.

Snow depths in the region ranged from 8 to 10 inches, with the covering in Muskegon, Mich., measuring 15 inches. Chicago, hit by an 11-inch snowfall a week

Nations Differ Over Fate of Angola

U.N. Debate Jolts Portugal, U.S. Ties

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Renewed U.N. debate on Angola today puts a new strain on ties between the United States and its Atlantic ally Portugal.

The debate was the first major business as the General Assembly resumes its 16th annual session after a Christmas recess.

Asian and European diplomats said U.S. delegates had told them it hoped the 104-nation assembly would adopt a moderate, meaningful resolution that would push the Portuguese toward self-determination for Angola.

But Portugal contended that the assembly had no right to even discuss its big West African territory. It maintained that all Portuguese overseas territories are provinces, not colonies, and their control is a domestic matter outside the assembly's jurisdiction.

There was speculation that the Portuguese delegation would boycott the Angola debate as it did on a similar occasion last April.

Sources in Lisbon have predicted that Portugal would quit the United Nations if the assembly censured rule over Angola.

Diplomatic sources said the United States probably would not introduce a resolution itself but would try to see that any introduction from Africa, Asia or Latin America would contribute toward (1) self-determination for Angola (2) a satisfactory settlement of the 11-month-old rebellion there.

Communist countries were reported seeking to get African delegations to put in a resolution that would (1) call on all countries to refrain from supplying Portugal with arms to use against the rebels and (2) ask the assembly's 17-nation special committee on independence for colonies to give its first attention to Angola.

Whatever the United States or the Soviet bloc might want, the 50-nation Asian-African group was expected to produce its own resolution on Angola and push it

Ohio's weekend traffic death toll, off to a grisly start with six deaths reported in the first six hours, ended being the deadliest of the new year.

Between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday at least 18 persons died on Ohio highways. Besides these three Columbus persons perished from carbon monoxide poisoning, a Jefferson County man was crushed in a mining accident and a Hamilton County man was pinned under a truck on which he was working.

Last weekend 17 persons died in traffic mishaps.

The worst accident of the weekend occurred shortly after the 4 a.m. hour period began. Two cars collided on the crest of a hill in Stark County Friday night. One of them careened over an embankment and caught fire. Three persons died.

Balloon Shot Fails As Bag Falls Apart

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A huge space balloon broke apart hundreds of miles above the Atlantic today as it was inflating to the size of a 13-story building.

The breakup of the big balloon—dubbed "Big Shot"—showed several pieces of aluminum coated plastic into the ocean about 600 miles southeast of the Cape. The pieces, illuminated brilliantly by the rays of the rising sun, provided a spectacular show for observers.

The 500-pound bundle of plastic sheeting was folded neatly in a canister in the nose of a Thor rocket which blasted off at 6:06 a.m. in an experiment aimed at testing techniques for launching an advanced Echo communications satellite.

A few minutes after the launch, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced that the balloon had separated from the Thor and had started to inflate. But a short while later the space agency said that the balloon had split.

After viewing a television film, officials theorized that perhaps the sphere carried too much residual air which caused it to expand too quickly.

The TV film, relayed from a camera in the Thor booster, showed vividly the separation of the canister from the rocket, opening of the canister with one-half slipping off into space and sudden inflation of the balloon and the almost immediate ripping.

The tear first appeared about three seconds after inflation, and immediately split the balloon into several pieces.

Newsman viewed the film at a news conference.

Officials said the film was much clearer than expected and that it was among the best footage of type ever relayed from a space vehicle.

Walter Bressette, a project official, said the expansion of the balloon was much more rapid than anticipated, indicating that perhaps an overdose of air had been placed in the sphere before launching to help the inflation.

Actually, the amount of air was very small. The main inflation was caused by 50 pounds of sublimating powder which turned to gas in space.

An attempt also was under way to recover a 16-mm movie camera which ejected from the Thor and parachuted into the sea. The package carrying the movie camera was sighted floating in the ocean about 200 miles northeast of San Salvador about an hour after the launching. This film would provide a clearer picture of what happened to the big sphere.

Newsman at the Cape saw the

Rusk To Brief Senate Group

Purchase of U. N. Bonds May Be Topic

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk goes to Capitol Hill today to brief members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on world trouble spots. One possible subject for discussion is proposed U.S. purchase of U.N. bonds.

Rusk appears before a closed session of the committee as Congress members continue to voice their opinions of President Kennedy's proposal for authority to purchase half of a $200-million U.N. bond issue.

The 25-year, 2-per cent bonds would help pay the cost of U.N. operations in the Congo and the Middle East.

A Democrat, Sen. Harry F. Byrd, of Virginia, has been vocal and persistent in his opposition to the idea. Sunday a Republican, Sen. John Sherman Cooper, of Kentucky, swung behind it.

"We've committed ourselves to it. We're in it and I'll vote for it," he said of the U.N. financing plan.

But, Cooper added on a television interview—CBS—"Washington Conversation"—the United States should inform all nations it will not continue such aid unless they pay up their U.N. assessments.

Elsewhere, Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., a member of the Senate committee, championed U.S. purchase of the bonds to help "clinch (Soviet Premier) Khrushchev's defeat in the Congo."

"The one biggest defeat Khrushchev has suffered in the last 10

3 Others Injured In Mishaps

Berlin Center Mother, Child Hurt In Crash

A Berlin Center mother and her nine-year-old daughter are in fair good condition at Salem City Hospital with injuries received in a one-car crash on the Bedell Rd., west of Berlin Center, at 3:30 p.m. Saturday.

Injured were:

Mrs. Victor Tomich, 27, of RD 1, Berlin Center, possible head injuries, laceration of the upper lip and contusions.

Justine Tomich, 9, possible head injuries and multiple contusions and abrasions.

The mishap occurred as Mrs. Tomich was driving north on the Bedell Rd., just north of Rt. 224. The State Highway Patrol said their car ran off the road into the ditch on the left side of the highway, then went back across the road and overturned.

Three other persons were hurt in weekend accidents.

Edward Wilson, 29, of Youngstown, is in fair condition at Youngstown South Side Hospital where he was admitted following a one-car mishap near Berlin Center on Mock Rd. Saturday.

The Patrol said Wilson's right front tire blew out, causing him to lose control of the car and crash into a guard rail. The accident occurred about 12:30 a.m.

Saturday but Wilson was not found until seven hours later.

He suffered a back injury which made it impossible for him to go for help, the Patrol said. He remained at the crash scene in near zero temperatures until help arrived at 7:30. Besides his back injury, he suffered fractured ribs, fractured elbow and head injuries.

James Ady of near Rogers was treated at Salem City Hospital for a severe laceration over the right eye received in a one-car crash on Rt. 154, east of Rogers, early this morning. The Patrol is still investigating.

Charles E. Hughes, 29, of Rogers, was treated by a Lisbon physician for injuries received in a one-car accident on Rt. 7, south of Rogers, at 4:15 p.m. Saturday. He suffered a sprained back, a laceration of the lip and had a tooth knocked out.

According to the Patrol, Hughes was traveling north when his car ran off the right side of the road, then went across to the left side and over an embankment. He was cited for reckless operation.

Cars operated by Ralph Miller, 39, of Beloit, and Edward Clark,

Rebel Head Held Virtual Prisoner

Congo Parliament Censures Gizenga

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The Congo Parliament by an overwhelming majority censured Antoine Gizenga today for his defiance of the central Congo government. The pro-Communist deputy premier was a virtual prisoner of U.N. and Congolese forces encircling his residence in Stanleyville.

The government announced Gizenga had agreed to end his self-imposed exile and return to Leopoldville by this Saturday after his personal bodyguard surrendered Sunday to Congolese troops. His capitulation came too late to avert the parliamentary wrath.

After a brief but angry debate, the vote in the Chamber of Deputies was 67 for the censure motion, a single vote against it, and one abstention.

The parliamentary action left the way open for Premier Cyrille Adoula to oust Gizenga from the deputy premiership he accepted last August but never actually filled.

One deputy said Gizenga's gendarmes who battled Congolese troops in Stanleyville over the weekend were in every way comparable to the foreign mercenaries fighting for President Moise Tshombe in Katanga Province.

Nearly 300 of Gizenga's gendarmes—his military army in Stanleyville—have been disarmed and taken prisoner by central government troops a U.N. spokesman reported.

One platoon of about 25 remains to be neutralized, but they were being rounded up in the bush around Stanleyville, he added.

Up to the end of fighting yesterday 14 Congolese troops were reported killed.

Patrol Fines Listed By Counties For Year

Courts in Columbiana County collected a total of $22,416.21 in fines and forfeitures arising out of State Highway Patrol cases last year, a report by State Auditor James Rhodes shows.

Mahoning County courts took in $28,852.22.

Muskingum had the highest report for the year in Patrol fines, $117,560. Sandusky county was second with $108,081 and nearby Trumbull County took in $76,572.

Under the law, the state claims 45 per cent, the balance being retained by local communities.

Fines taken in from liquor violations showed: Columbiana County, $387.50; Mahoning, $1,151.50.

Bettis to Seek County Post 3 Years Hence

J. Warren Bettis of Salineville, who served in the Ohio legislature last year as one of the two Columbiana County representatives, announced today he will be a candidate for county prosecutor at the Republican primary election in May, 1964.

Prior to becoming state representative for the extra office allowed the county every 10 years because of population proportionment, Bettis was assistant county prosecutor.

Trade Experts Meeting on Final Problems

Industrial Products Barriers May Be Cut Up to 20 Per Cent

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—The United States and common market nations will initial a sweeping agreement to cut tariffs on many industrial products Tuesday, informed sources said today.

The informants confirmed reports that cuts of about 20 per cent on some industrial items are foreseen.

As to U.S. agricultural products, they will be considered in later negotiations between the United States and the European Economic Community, the formal name for the six-nation common market, these sources reported. They will involve wheat, corn and poultry.

The agreement will be initiated by Howard Peterson, special adviser to President Kennedy; and Jean Rey, member of the EEC in charge of foreign relations.

The agreement cannot become final until it is approved unanimously by the EEC council of ministers, informants said. U.S. sources said the agreement also has to go back to the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade organizations in Geneva, under whose auspices the negotiations began.

A spokesman for the U.S. mission to the EEC confirmed that a meeting had been arranged between Peterson and Rey for Tuesday but said as far as they know, the meeting is not for the formal signature of any agreement.

"Everything seems to be going all right," the sources said. "Meetings of experts are taking place today to examine the last problems still pending. These meetings will continue tomorrow morning if need be."

The sources indicated that the French representatives had expressed some reservations about tariff cuts on imports of some American chemicals, but that it

City Council To Act on Parking Ban

Two controversial ordinances which would prohibit parking on sections of several streets throughout the city are expected to be considered by City Council at its regular session Tuesday night at 7:30.

Bogged down by complaints from numerous citizens, the measures have undergone numerous changes since they were introduced in Council almost three months ago. The 1961 Council gave the ordinances two readings, then dumped the measures into the lap of the new Council which took office on Jan. 2.

The traffic and safety committee of Council has urged passage of the two ordinances to facilitate the flow of traffic and eliminate certain hazardous conditions.

Another ordinance up for consideration Tuesday would appropriate $1,400 to pay two additional firemen for two months. The fire department has been short two men since Chief Clarence Wright has been unable to devote full time to the job since early in November because of a heart ailment and Fireman Robert Bryan has been hospitalized since last fall with injuries received in an automobile accident.

Chief Wright last week was granted a 30-day leave-of-absence and Lt. Elmer Bush was appointed acting chief.

Also to be introduced at Tuesday's Council meeting is an ordinance appropriating $4,500 from the capital improvements fund for purchase of a road grader to be used by the service department.

Lively Battles Predicted

Taxes, Spending Big Issues
In Ohio Governor Campaign

By DUANE E. CROFT
Salem News Staff Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio—For the second time, Mike DiSalle has "cleared the air" about his political plans.

The first time, when he announced last Oct. 20 he would not seek re-election, the air didn't stay cleared. This time, presumably, it will.

Clarified also is the main battleground on which the campaign will be fought—taxes and spending.

Both Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy, the governor's only announced opponent in the May 8 Democratic primary, and State Auditor James A. Rhodes, who apparently has a clear track to the Republican nomination, have accepted that challenge from the incumbent.

McElroy Disagrees on Taxes
McElroy, who entered the gubernatorial picture after DiSalle's

first decision, said then he agreed with the "humanitarian" aims of the governor's education, welfare and mental health programs but did not agree increased taxes are necessary to achieve them.

Rhodes' long-expected declaration for the governor's office just before Thanksgiving Day included a pledge to study the state's tax structure in terms of "desirable objectives" in education "as well as in other fields."

In his preliminary bout with McElroy, DiSalle undoubtedly will expand on his belief that side-stepping money needs, as McElroy indicated he would do, is not the way to carry the banner for the things the Democratic party stands for.

May Capitalize on Fight
If McElroy's original statement is a guide, he can be expected to try to capitalize on the governor's running fight with Republican legislators over spending and taxing.

His later bitter blasts at DiSalle's alleged encouragement of also will make an issue of party unity, charging dictatorial tactics by DiSalle have split Democratic ranks.

As the incumbent holding virtual pledges of support from Democratic leaders in most of the 88 counties, DiSalle is considered a heavy favorite over McElroy in the primary.

But a question mark rests over Cleveland, the attorney general's home town and bailiwick of Ray T. Miller, the governor's arch enemy in intraparty affairs.

How Much Is He Hurt?
And there is no doubt that DiSalle's long period of apparent indecisiveness and then change of mind has hurt him some. The question is how much.

If DiSalle wins renomination, he will meet a formidable opponent in Rhodes, who won his third term as auditor in 1960 by the biggest voter ever cash for an elected state officer.

With the state's spending accounts at his fingertips, Rhodes probably will rely heavily on the current low level of cash in Ohio's treasury to paint a picture of too much outgo.

DiSalle will counter, of course, with his argument that a state as wealthy as Ohio should be willing to pay the price of better education, mental hygiene, correction and welfare programs.

Appeal to Same Groups

Both will be appealing to the same general groups of voters—those interested in the programs, especially education on which the governor has focused attention.

Their argument will be over ways to pay for them.

It can be noted that DiSalle, in making his new decision known Friday, also proposed a study of the state's economy—by a bipartisan committee of politicians and citizens.

And he went a step further on the subject of taxes:

"It is possible to meet our problems . . . without drastic tax measures. This is possible on a pay-as-you-go basis."

"I am definitely and unalterably opposed to the imposition of an income tax in Ohio. But this will result in future years if we do not find a solution to our problems now."

Aiming a Reverse Twist

This apparently aims at putting a reverse twist on Republicans' favorite epithet for him — "Tax Hike Mike."

It also could be designed to draw Rhodes out more specifically on the subject of taxes.

But the veteran Republican campaigner has met such challenges before.

Certain is the fact that the comming campaigns, both primary and general, are going to be livelier now that DiSalle is in the ring—if the voters can be interested in the details of high governmental finance.

Tradition has it that the ground hog emerges from his den on Feb. 2 to look for his shadow: Failure to cast one means an early spring and a good harvest; the sight of one, six weeks more of winter and poor crops.

This and That

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't read his mail:

The world is an opening envelope, but one of the mysteries science still can't fathom is—why your pet cat says meow when it is hungry.

Heaven holds a billion stars, but on the clearest night a child can look up and see only about a thousand. Our sun is comparatively a young star—about five billion years old. The age of the oldest stars in our galaxy—the Milky Way—is estimated to be 20 billion years, give or take a month.

How they got started: Bette Davis began as a film usher. Sid Caesar worked briefly as a movie doorman. John Barrymore was a cartoonist. Walter Winchell hoofed on the other side of the bright lights before he took pen in hand.

Spice used to be the variety of death. The ancient Egyptians customarily buried peppercorns with their mummified kings.

Speaking of condiments, did you know that salt is an absolute variety of life? A diet from which all salt was removed would kill you almost as quickly as if you tried to live utterly without water.

Our quibbles: "When women kiss, it always reminds me of prize fighters shaking hands."—H. L. Mencken.

Strange town: The French village of Aroma is pretty much like any small community except for one thing: Its population of 309 includes 148 so-called normal people and 161 inmates of a mental hospital.

Signs of our times: Seen at an auto repair shop: "We require a 50 per cent deposit from all customers we don't know, and 100 per cent deposit from some we do know."

Life gets better every year: A new "split personality" electric toaster now can brown each of four slices of bread to individual tastes.

This reminds me of the best single sentence of advice I ever heard for housewives. "The husband that gets his breakfast downtown," said Kin Hubbard, "is liable to be late for supper."

Wise crack of the week: Actor Oscar Homolka says most women don't save for their old age because they never count on being older than 40.

The Biblical span of man's life is 70 years—which most of us now can hope to reach after 5,000 years of human civilization. Zoo records have established these longevity figures for other creatures: Giant tortoise, 152 years; box turtle, 123; great horned owl, 68; snapping turtle, 57; eagle 55; toad, 36; bullfrog, 30; English sparrow 23; wolf, 16; beaver, 12.

The moral here, if there is one, is: "If you enjoy living, be as busy as a tortoise—and to heck with the eager beavers."

Lack of prosperity note: A new car is a status symbol in our times but 60 per cent of Americans never own one.

Now get this straight: A Belgian hare isn't a hare, it's a rabbit. And the jackrabbit isn't a rabbit, it's a hare. Hares have longer legs than rabbits and a different digestive tract. Rabbits are born hairless and don't open their eyes for a week or so. Hares are born fuzzy and wide-eyed.

It was Abraham Lincoln who observed, "It has been my experience that folks who have no vices have very few virtues."

WEDDING PLANNED—Juliet Prowse, above, will marry Frank Sinatra "in the near future." They met two years ago when both were appearing in "Can Can." Miss Prowse is from South Africa. Sinatra's first wife was Nancy Barbate, and his second, Ava Gardner.

Handyman Uses Oil, Grease To Protect Tools From Rust

Nothing ages a new tool as quickly as rust. Obviously, before measures can be taken to prevent rust, rust cuts down on the efficiency of the best tool. It also offers evidence that your basement isn't as dry as you thought.

There are a variety of rust preventatives. Pick one or more to protect your investment in tools.

Obviously, before measures can be taken to prevent rust, you must remove all existing rust.

Brighten Metal
Steel wool or emery cloth will brighten metal surfaces in a hurry. Emery cloth works best over a large working area, the blade of a hand saw for example. Steel wool works well on small objects and irregular shapes.

You can hurry the action of steel wool by applying a few drops of cutting oil to it or to the surface on which you are working.

Light Formations
There are commercial rust removers that are fine for light formations of rust. Follow the manufacturer's instructions in each case. Some people use ammonium citrate, available in most drug stores, to soak off rust. Apply and let stand for about 30 minutes before rubbing off.

In cleaning up saw blades—hand or power—be sure to remove all pitch that the blade picks up when cutting lumber.

Oil Coating
Tools that are not used often or are not handled extensively, can be protected with a light coat of oil. Drill bits can be wrapped in oily rags. Petroleum jelly or light grease can be applied with a cloth to the blade of your power saw or to wood bits.

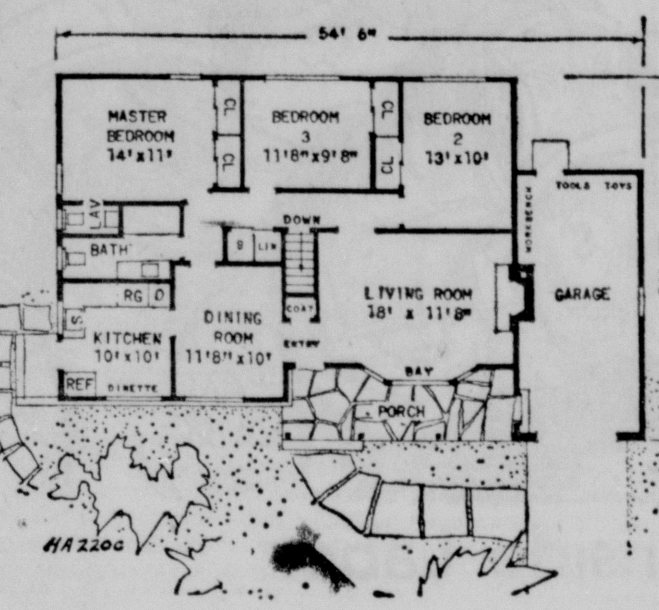

A few drops of oil in small jars of screws will keep them free from rust now, and later when they are in use as well.

Paste 'Em
Some of the best protection possible is offered by a product you probably already have on hand—ordinary paste wax.

It offers several advantages over oil and grease. It can be handled afterwards, dust and dirt will not stick to it. Spread it over power saw tables, the base of any wood plane and on hammer heads. Paraffin can also be used in much the same way. Apply and wipe off excess.

Grease Heavy
Heavy grease can be used on the metal ends of garden tools before putting them in storage. It can be applied easily and it will remove itself once you start using the tool again.

In addition to these rust preventive measures, take steps to cut down the amount of moisture where you keep your tools. Use moisture absorbing chemicals, ventilate the area thoroughly in dry weather by during long periods, when they are not in use.

FOR A FRONT VIEW — If your view is at the front, you'll enjoy this ranch home with living room, dining room and kitchen at the front and three bedrooms at the back. The plan, HA220C, has 1,168 square feet. It was designed by architect Lester Cohen, Room 75, 117 W. 48th St., New York 36, N. Y.

Blow-In Insulation Method Avoids Damage to House

A question frequently asked by many shivering home owners is: "How do we insulate our house? Do we have to tear off plaster to get at the walls and ceilings?"

The answer is an emphatic NO. Any house, new, middle-aged, or old, can be insulated today with modern methods developed by mineral wool engineers.

Here's how it works: Thick, heat-stopping mineral wool is blown under air pressure into finished walls, ceilings, and floors by an insulation contractor with specially-designed pneumatic equipment.

To insulate a wall, for example, workmen remove small pieces of siding and drill holes in the sheathing. The nozzle of a long, flexible hose attached to a truck at the curb is inserted in the holes one by one and mineral wool is pumped through the hose into the wall. Air pressure forces the mineral wool into every crack and crevice and around pipes and wires, packing it at just the right density for an efficient insulation seal.

When the wall is filled with insulation, the pieces of siding are carefully replaced, leaving no noticeable evidence of the work done.

Similar methods are employed to insulate ceilings and floors. If the attic is accessible, the hose is taken inside where insulation is blown directly between floor joists.

After the entire job is finished, the house is wrapped in a complete blanket of insulation that ensures greater comfort and operating economy in all seasons of the year.

Here's The Answer

QUESTION: I want to put a new plastic top on our kitchen table. It has a metal molding, but there are no nails or screws in it such as I have seen on other similar moldings. How is this type of molding put on?

ANSWER: This is a special kind of molding held in place by a clamp-like action. If you are replacing the molding with the same type, ask your dealer to show you how it is applied. Otherwise, buy one of the metal moldings which have predrilled holes for nails or screws.

QUESTION: A wooden table top I finished recently now has a number of cloudy spots on it. I used shellac, thinned with denatured alcohol. What caused this and how can I correct it?

ANSWER: It appears likely that the shellac was applied to a surface with some moisture on it. Perhaps you did the job on a rainy day or one in which there was very high humidity. You can try to remove the cloudiness by going over the spots with a brush dipped in denatured alcohol. If this doesn't work, you have no choice but to resand the wood, wash with denatured alcohol and do the job again.

Metal Strips Protect Edges Of Roofs

Here's a tip for families who are building a new home, remodeling an old one, or simply planning to have a new roof applied on their present house:

Make sure your roofer applies a metal drip edge along the eaves and eaves before he applies corrosion-resistant metal, is vital because it helps prevent rain water and melting snow and ice from getting into the edges of vulnerable wood roof decking where moisture can cause warping and rot.

The Asphalt Roofing Industry Bureau recommends that the drip edge be applied directly on the wood deck along the eaves so that the underlay felt when applied will cover it. Along the rakes it is applied over the felt underlay. The metal strip is bent over the edges of the deck, providing a durable run-off for water. The drip edge also keeps wind-driven rain and snow out of the decking boards.

The drip edge, plus the rugged armor of mineral-surfaced asphalt shingles, provide a roof that will give dependable, long-lasting protection in the harshest weather.

BRIDGES REOPEN

CINCINNATI (AP) — All four bridges from Cincinnati to Northern Kentucky were open again today, ending a hard five days for traffic police.

Central Bridge between Cincinnati and Newport, Ky., was reopened Sunday after repairs of cold weather damages had been completed a week ahead of schedule. The closing of the bridge Wednesday caused the worst traffic jam in the history of Cincinnati police as thousands of Northern Kentuckians who work in Ohio tried to get home during the evening rush hour.

DiSalle Will Try Again

Michael V. DiSalle will be a candidate for re-election to the governorship of Ohio next November if he wins the Democratic primary next May.

When Gov. DiSalle surprised Ohioans last October by saying he thought he could sell his ideas better by not being a candidate for another term, we raised an editorial eyebrow, as did most Ohio newspapers.

It did not seem to us a lame-duck governor would be in a good position to sell anything except his household furniture. It did seem to us there was more to his announcement than met the ear and eye.

For one thing, it seemed to make sense that Gov. DiSalle was saying to members of the Democratic party, in effect: "The way things stand as of today I have no desire to run for a second term as a Democratic candidate. It wouldn't be worth it, even if I won. You haven't given me enough support."

This would give every knowledgeable Democrat in Ohio a chance to do some political soul-searching.

WOULD THERE be anything Ohio Democrats could do to make a bid for re-election attractive to Mike DiSalle? Would he change his mind and run for re-election if they gave him tangible evidence of their desire to stand behind him, win or lose?

And there is this further thought that may have gone through the nimble DiSalle mind last fall when he said he was going to turn in his running shoes:

"Maybe the best way to let Ohio Democrats find out how much they need me is to let them see how things would look in my absence."

Whatever it was that prompted the announcement when it was made, there did seem to be more to it than met the ear and eye. Since then, the political pieces have been falling into new patterns.

Gov. DiSalle has learned, we believe, that being a "lame-duck" salesman is an exercise in political frustration. People are willing to listen to him out of respect for the office he still holds and out of respect for the attractive political personality he always has been.

But politics is essentially the art of getting things done, and a politician who is not going to be in power the next time around is a politician with no prospect of getting things done.

We suspect Gov. DiSalle was disappointed on that score, if it was the score he was playing.

BUT ON THE score we suspected he was playing, he was hitting all the keys.

Ohio Democrats have discovered more enthusiasm for Gov. DiSalle since last October than they had shown since they voted him into office with the assistance of many Ohio Republicans who had not liked the administration of C. William O'Neill.

Ohio Democrats have discovered something else, too—that without Mike DiSalle as a candidate for governor the future would look bare and bleak for the simple reason they have no one else of large enough political stature to show up on the horizon. They missed him as soon as he said he was going—and he hadn't left yet.

Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy may prove to be a formidable opponent for Gov. DiSalle, but an incumbent has such a tremendous advantage over any opponent, especially in a primary, that it is not likely the governor will be denied renomination.

Well, like any other game, politics should be fun. It should be fun for the players and fun for the spectators.

Gov. DiSalle is going to stay in the game. We were surprised and incredulous last October when he said he was going to stay out of it.

We didn't think we'd heard the last of him in governorship politics—and our hunch was right.

Score a Point For Rowan

The country is not called on to take sides in the Washington Cosmos Club row over rejection of Carl T. Rowan as a prospective member.

The Cosmos Club is a private organization. It could have rejected Mr. Rowan, who is deputy assistant secretary of state, on grounds other than his identity as a Negro. There simply is no way to prove the club did not turn him down because its admissions committee decided he was not compatible with the general standards of membership.

These are understood to be the standards of whatever intellectualism is in common currency in Washington. The Cosmos Club is a haven of the capital's thinking minority. To belong to it is to stand before the circumscribed world of Washington society as one of conspicuous mental attainment.

It was for this reason that Mr. Rowan was proposed; his friends thought he had it between the ears, where it counts. They are so certain of their judgment they are indignant because it was not sustained. Some are resigning from the Cosmos Club over the matter—and it may even be surmised some of them are milking their resignations for political advantage.

Mr. Rowan, it seems to us, has come off the winner. As a Negro of unusual intellectual attainment, he has been recognized by his Cosmos Club friends in a most unusual way. They proposed him for membership in an organization whose recognition means a great deal to them. They wanted to share it with him because they held him in high esteem not only as a man of attainment but as a friend.

We should think that behind the furor Carl T. Rowan must be one of the proudest men of his race since it began to aspire to equality in the United States. He has attained recognition in his own right. It's inconsequential that the Cosmos Club does not see fit to recognize him with a membership card.

A Small Matter of Comfort

In what appears to be a routine roundup of court news from New York, it's reported that Charles Van Doren and several other former amateurs who became nationally known on television quiz shows a few years back failed to show up on schedule to stand trial on perjury charges.

Other former contestants slickered by the shady practice of boosting the quiz show ratings by feeding answers to contestants in advance so they would seem to be spectacularly smart have made pleas of guilty to charges they lied before a grand jury that investigated their behavior in 1958. The roundup says 19 contestants were charged in connection with two of the shows and that trial for all defendants who haven't entered pleas of guilty are scheduled this week.

It's a matter of small comfort to know the cold, bony hand of the law is still resting on the shoulders of these deceivers who ran afoul of certain glib characters who built up quiz shows from nothing to the biggest drawing card in television in the second half of the fifth decade.

This is a situation in which a citizen can feel secure. He may be gunned to death in his sleep, mulcted of his savings in a confidence game, put away for life on circumstantial evidence in a murder case, worked over to the point of death by a narcotics-crazed hophead, driven to despair by the law's inability to cope with sex maniacs, attacked by a footpad, or knifed in the ribs in the streets of New York City. But he knows he will be safe from Charles Van Doren and all those people who let themselves be sweet-talked into going along with a TV deception, then were ashamed to admit. The law is on their back like an organ grinder's monkey.

It lets a man sleep sounder at night.

All Aboard For Tariff Revision Gulch!

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Deep in the high ceilinged inner sanctums of some of our highest government officials, there can be heard a Banzai, or two—because there may be a riot or two in Japan late in February—around Feb. 23 to be exact.

Maybe not exactly riots as we know them, but certainly the Japanese version of pickets. A series of strikes will rip through Japan.

They could not come at more appropriate and tense moments for the Kennedy administration which then will be fighting for the power to open the national sluice gates and permit floods of imports into the United States.

Since what stirs most fear in United States industrial and labor circles is low cost imports from Japan, any move there to increase the cost of production for the gentlemen from Japan—and therefore narrow the price gap—will be welcomed here.

Oddly enough, this depends on the success of some tough Socialist and Communist unions there, organized into something called "Sohyo."

THEY'VE SET Feb. 23 as their deadline for action—the launching of the "Spring Struggle." This will be unleashed by Sohyo and an ally, the joint committee "Shuritsu Roren." The latter is the "Liaison Council of Neutral Trade Unions."

They are all led by political hot blooms. Together, Sohyo and the "Shuritsu Roren" claim some 99 unions with five million members.

Earlier the Tanro, the Japanese Coal Mine Workers' Union, will strike. All this is being coordinated by the "Spring Struggle" outfit right now so the workers hit the bricks in a steady stream of demonstrations all through the first quarter of the year.

What they want, of course, is a much higher wage. Then, on March 3, they'll also kick off what they call a national movement for a minimum wage system.

If the workers increase their actual cash take, they'll be one of the higher priced groups of workers in the Orient and begin matching some of the pay standards in Western Europe.

There are many unseen benefits given the Japanese worker—enough to permit the authoritative Prof. Peter Drucker to write that the welfare and fringe benefits "often amount to as much as three times the basic wage."

HE REFERS to the Japanese workers' year end bonuses which come to as much as three months' pay when business is good. And family allowance which give a worker additional pay for each of his children. And cost-of-living increases as prices rise.

There is also a unique length of service allowance which increases as the years on the job total up.

Virtually all the big Japanese industries provide inexpensive housing, dormitories, blocks of homes for sale at low cost. Many companies pay round trip carfare to work each day. Meals are priced at cost, also cut-rate clothing, permanent medical care and permanent pay for the duration of an illness.

Some companies run low cost vacation resorts. All these in addition to the standard old age pension and garden variety welfare benefits.

Mark all this well. It will be at the vortex of President Kennedy's big battle this spring.

He wants the President of the United States to have the power to cut tariffs as he deems necessary.

HE'LL NOT get this power.

There is virtually unanimous opposition from the major industries—and unions—and the minor ones, too, though you will hear much of their overt support of the President on free and open trade.

It isn't Mr. Kennedy they have in mind. They do not want to set a precedent which will give any political leader the power to make or break an industry or union.

So everybody is looking for a formula. How can the United States make it possible for nations, such as Japan, which buy billions from us to sell here? Perhaps, say many, a system of licensing is feasible.

Thus, if a company abroad can prove it pays and maintains its workers at certain standards, not horribly below the wages and fringe cost of American workers, that company—and not the entire industry—can sell in the United States.

The cost gap now is almost as important as the missile gap once was.

Kennedy's Weakness

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Hasn't Won the Confidence of Businessmen

Confidence is a many-sided and elusive thing. An administration may readily boast of why it has won the confidence of the country but isn't always sure of the reasons when that same confidence is lost.

The Kennedy administration may show up well on Gallup Polls but the sad truth is that it has failed to win the confidence of the numerically small roster of men who operate every day the economy of the United States. They are the businessmen who must borrow money and risk capital for new plants or for the development of new markets. They are the men who are responsible for attaining profit margins that will attract investors. They are also the men whose ingenuity and planning ability result in the creation of more and more jobs.

Today the unemployment problem—according to figures just released—shows no signs of being solved. The stock market is sagging. Anxiety among businessmen is widespread.

There is a prospect of another steel strike and possibly another retardation of the economy as a whole.

Why is President Kennedy not making headway on this front? He is personally cordial to businessmen and to everybody else. He is earnest and sincere. He is trying hard to make good.

But when it comes to an understanding of what makes the wheels go round in business, his education as President has not progressed far enough for him to recognize the true weakness of his own administration.

Mr. Kennedy is often torn between the conflicting viewpoints of his advisers. Most of them are alert minded and forward looking and want to do everything possible to make the Kennedy administration succeed but they are novices in the practical field of government operations as well as in the perplexing tasks involved in getting new legislation approved by the people's representatives in Congress.

IT SEEMS startling and hard to realize but there is not a single adviser on economic matters at the President's side, either in the Cabinet or in the unofficial cabinet, who has had any experience as the actual head of a really large business.

Secretary of Defense McNamara has had a few years of such contacts but he is not charged by the President with the responsibility for making economic policy.

The President's words in this many speeches and messages have set forth the desirable goals in eloquent fashion. But the words have become meaningless in the absence of concrete action that is based on the everyday facts of business progress.

Mr. Kennedy has failed signally on the labor-management front. It is not what he has done but what he has failed to do, that counts.

While the President has been occupying himself largely with foreign policy matters, he has not perceived the real reason why the challenge of the Common Market in Europe can wind up in a big failure for the American economy. The reason is simple—the chaos on the labor management front in America.

BERNARD BARUCH, in a book he wrote a few years ago called "Public Affairs," describes trenchantly the wage price spiral as follows:

"By abusing its powers, labor injures not only itself but the whole country. While it is the proper concern of union leaders to improve the lot of their followers, they must recognize that their demands must be economically justified. If wage and other demands are not accompanied by increasing productivity, inevitably prices will be driven out of reach, and foreign competition encouraged, to the detriment of the entire economy. American workers will wind up as the highest-paid unemployed workers in the world. Just as we are feeling the pinch resulting from the influx of foreign cars, steel and other products. Unless labor leaders recognize this threat, they may well wind up 'unionizing' unemployment."

Mr. Kennedy has failed also in the matter of tax reform and especially in planning that would stimulate an increased volume of business out of which the government could derive more and more tax receipts.

He has failed, moreover, to furnish a comprehensive plan of how he is going to deal with the businesses that would be injured by low tariffs. All this adds up finally to a loss of confidence.

Much of the difficulty is the fact that half baked plans are launched without being thought through.

The proposal to lower tariffs has many champions, even among businessmen, but this doesn't solve the problems of those who are going to be hurt by such action.

LIKEWISE, when the administration is reported to be planning to ask Congress for power to raise or lower taxes at will, there is little thought given to the psychological damage such a proposal can do to public confidence.

Only the President can restore the confidence he has lost. If he fails to win it, then the election next autumn of another political party to the majority position in Congress would not be surprising.

Mr. Kennedy's leadership or lack of it is bound to be the issue in November, particularly because the economic apparatus which was expected to boom this year isn't getting off dead center as yet.

Meanwhile, the Stock Market, as a forerunner of events to come, seems to be taking a gloomy view of the future. It certainly is a time for some experienced and broad-visioned businessmen to be summoned to help steer the ship of state.

New York Herald-Tribune

Purely Personal

By TRUMAN TWILL

I have been paying close attention to the opening rounds in the trade policy debate that will be the biggest subject in Congress this year and can report that both sides are squaring away to fight to the death over everything but the real issue, which is whether we join 'em or try to lick 'em.

Granted that the classification is arbitrary and oversimplified, I like the idea of dividing people into two categories—forward thinkers and backward thinkers. If a third group were added—the thinkless—that would take care of everybody.

The trouble Russian big shots have with discarded politicians reminds me increasingly of the trouble we have with our own, except our methodology is slicker. Instead of shooting them or sending them to jobs in Outer Mongolia, we let them wither on the vine until no one notices they're hanging there any more.

In the perfect civilization I propose to set up, there will be a chance once each week for everybody to air all gripes, which would be enough to satisfy most of us, even if nothing ever were done about our complaints. It's nursing them in silence that does the damage.

I have checked this observation with everyone of my acquaintance who knows how government works and they assure me it's valid: The American people in general neither know nor care about either the theory or practice of a republic and are being governed, as it were, by default.

When I saw a convertible in a show window this morning I thought of something that never had come to my mind before. I have ridden in convertibles only twice in my life—once in winter when I suffered from the cold, once in summer when I collected so much dirt I had to retire to a hotel washroom and do a scrub job.

At various times I have eaten for breakfast almost everything imaginable, including beefsteak and fried potatoes and also assorted cheeses, which is my favorite breakfast, next to scrambled eggs, bacon and a plate of toast larded with strawberry preserves. But let me choke down one dishful of hot oatmeal and I'm upset for days.

I hesitate to use a sun lamp I have found in a storage closet at the Twillery because people who know me would say I was trying to simulate a Florida tan and people who don't know me would think I had a Florida tan, and in either event I would be uncomfortable about disloyalty to my bleached-out and half-frozen fellow sufferers of the North Intemperate Zone.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I used to read your column for laughs because I couldn't get over some of the nutty stuff people got themselves into. Well you can line my wife right up there with the rest of the filberts.

Mabel is 56 years old. She's a lively person and a great little dancer. Mable took a set of dancing lessons a few months ago and now she's gone hog wild over the twist.

She's even giving lessons to her friends. The house is full of young and old alike. The noise drives me crazy. It's that bang bang bang, rock 'n' roll stuff. I used to work in a foundry and I was quiet compared with what goes on at our house.

Mabel's back has knoked out on her three times in the past six weeks. I've had to call the doctor twice. The last time she was like paralyzed and I drove her to the hospital for X-rays. We thought sure she had broken something.

The twist is bad enough when kids do it, but for a woman who is a grandmother five times over I think it is insane. How can I get her to knock off this foolishness?—CHARLEY.

Dear Charley: The twist, like other dance fads, will disappear eventually. Most fads leave only memories, but this one, according to orthopedic specialists, will leave slipped discs, dislocated hips, pulled ligaments and a glittering assortment of sacral problems.

If Mable insists on twisting after the casualties she has suffered I agree that she's in the filbert class.

Mink and Cat

Dear Ann: A friend of mine got a fur coat for Christmas. She says it is Japanese mink. I've seen mink before and this one doesn't look like the real thing to me. I think she made up the name.

She wore the coat yesterday and it began to rain. Her "Japanese mink" took on a musty odor—like a cat. Do you think maybe her coat is some sort of cat? Please tell me because I don't want her to put anything over on me.—WANTING THE FACTS.

Dear Wanting: YOU sound like some sort of a cat yourself, Doll.

There is indeed a fur called Japanese mink. It is yellow and is dyed dark brown to resemble its American cousin, the ranch mink. All mink are weasels, however, and any weasel will smell a little musty if he gets caught in the rain.

Tailor-Made Solution

Dear Ann: My youngest sister and her husband are celebrating their first wedding anniversary next month. We want to give them something unusual but we haven't much money to spend.

A family joke is the way they race each other for the newspaper because they both want to read your column. We thought of giving them each some roller skates but my husband says it would be a waste of money. What can you suggest since you are indirectly involved:—SUE AND LOU.

Dear S and L: The answer is a natural. The first anniversary is paper. Buy them a second subscription.

Confidentially

TO FREE BUT UNEASY: You did the right thing. A man who drinks "a little—too much" before marriage invariably drinks a LOT too much after marriage. Better a broken engagement than a divorce or a life of trouble.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

What To Do About Food Allergies

"I wish there were three simple rules to follow, or five foods to avoid, or seven things to do to solve the problem of food allergies in children. But there aren't. There are only puzzles."

Thus writes Prof. Susan Dees of the Department of Pediatrics of Duke University in the most frank and helpful article I've read on the subject in a long time.

Here are some of the puzzles to which Prof. Dees refers:

Most children with allergies are the offspring of one or more allergic parents. But some are not. In many instances, childhood sensitivity to a specific food disappears for no apparent reason. Perhaps these instances of spontaneous disappearance furnish the basis for many claims for "cure" made by the ignorant and those who exploit commercial remedies.

CONTRARY TO these "disappearing allergies" are those that develop in oldsters who previously ate the particular food with relish and without trouble up to a certain age.

Skin tests may be negative in children with a definite food sensitivity. And positive in a child who can eat the particular food without difficulty.

Certain test extracts made from foods are so irritating that they give positive tests in practically everyone tested. These nonspecific reactors include spinach, white potato, tomato, banana, citrus fruits and many spices. The clinical reaction to the food allergen may not always be the same each time it is eaten. Perhaps the food is altered in the preparation. Or the sensitivity of the allergic child may be altered, perhaps by its emotional state at the time of the meal.

Antihistamines are less effective in the relief of the symptoms of food allergy than they are, for example, in the relief of hay fever.

Desensitization by injections of very dilute extracts of the offending food is not practical. But desensitization by feeding minute amounts in increasing quantities is often effective.

FOR DETECTION of a food allergy, Prof. Dees recommends the method with which constant readers of these columns are familiar (Sherlock Holmes method of inductive reasoning). Once again, here's how to do it without the aid of mirrors or special equipment:

Eliminate the suspicious food from the diet for a period of at least a week.

If the allergic symptoms disappear, re-introduce the food in small quantity twice or thrice weekly.

If the allergic symptoms reappear on re-introduction of the food, repeat the tests at the end of several weeks to be sure of your findings.

If the offending food is a non-essential (egg, fruit, vegetable, chocolate), omit it. Remember, then, to check labels on food mixtures to be sure that the allergen is not one of the hidden ingredients.

If the offending food is an essential, such as cow's milk or a grain, substitute a nutritional equivalent (soy bean milk or strained meat for cow's milk; rice or barley for wheat etc). And finally, I suggest that if you are the mother of a child with an allergy to cow's milk, breast feed the brothers and sisters that arrive later.

AN ATLANTIC AIRLIFT OVER THE ARCTIC

NORTHEAST PASSAGE—In a first-of-its-kind operation, a few hundred American soldiers will be jetlifted to Europe over the Arctic in a 10½-hour, nonstop flight. They are part of a 6,000-man contingent from the 4th Infantry Division at Ft. Lewis, Wash., being flown to West Germany to take part in "Exercise Longthrust II" maneuvers. The bulk of the troops will leave McChord AFB in jets and piston planes and fly across the U. S. to McGuire AFB, N. J., where they will refuel (see newsmap). Then one section will take the North Atlantic route via Scotland, the other the mid-Atlantic route via the Azores. The polar route, passing within 1,600 miles of the North Pole, will save about 800 miles.

HOOP TALK

By... Double Dribble

That's right, it's me again! And right off the bat let me say that all of you Quaker Lovers did real fine in earning points toward the "Big 8" Sportsmanship trophy during the Warren game. I observed the game from atop a rafter in the Gym (ticket problem you know) and heard only a few stifled Boos, but they came from both sides of the Gym. I would venture to say, however, that "their side" was somewhat more disturbed about the refs calls than the Quaker fans. (Who wouldn't be when the team's top man fouls out early in the 3rd stanza). All in all, I would say the display of "Sportsmanship" on both sides was a welcome newcomer to the Salem gym. Warren deserves a special merit badge, they co-operated on every count, especially in the hectic seating angle. They were glad just to get "A" seat, let alone their choice. With the packed house, Fred Cope said, "We finally made expenses". Come on now, Fred, you only paid Warren $50 for their appearance. Is this the way the school board lowered their debt last year?

Just a little note here to commend the Cute Cheer leaders and that "swinging" Combo who play before each game. "A-O-K."

Well, enough for a view of last Friday's encounter (I might out do our sports writer) and on to tomorrow. (Sorry about Ravenna

- but you know all about that anyway. I did talk to a friend by wireless about that tilt - "Quoth the Raven, Nevermore" Poe.)

Although my scouts won't go near Youngstown (bomb shy you know) I can safely say we'll do all right in our attempt to move up in the A.P. (the poll not the Market) against Youngstown Rayen.

Speaking of the A.P. Poll, did you notice that the No. 2 team (Hamilton Taft) received 12 first place votes which would account for 120 of their 130 points? This is definitely a deal agreement. (This means everyone else gets caught in the shuffle). I would be the first to admit that Hamilton probably has a good team, but it takes a heap of talking rather than playing to garner 12 first place votes. Salem received 3 first place votes, (guess where 2 of them came from-No. 1 am not stuffing the ballot box) for a total of 30 points, plus 7 tallies from elsewhere. First place votes are somewhat of a joke, how can Salem, Hamilton Taft, or any other team for that matter claim to be the best in the State? This Championship will be decided March 24th in Tourney play at Columbus. This poll has become a rat race, and unless they find a suitable system for ranking during the year, I guess sports writers will just have to fight fire with fire. Vote for yourself and hope some other Sports People (?) will help you and yours in YOUR AREA.

I'll now get off my soap box and ask you to write to me on this "Poll System" and on 7th grade basketball. Give me your opinion on this, Write Double Dribble, P. O. Box 316, Salem, O.

I'll be back on Jan. 26 with the latest word on . . . OH, NO! Akron South . . . Oh, well I wanted to go south for the winter anyway, Adios!

So They Say

In the early days of the Republic, Americans in boldness and optimism exalted liberty disproportionately in its relation to security. Today, in apprehension, Americans are overemphasizing security at the expense of vital historic liberties.

—Philadelphia Federal Judge William H. Hastie.

Hanoverton Crash Victim Still Serious

Mrs. Margaret McIntosh, 32, of RD East Rochester, who was injured in the same accident that claimed the life of her husband, Earl, at a Hanoverton tavern struck by a car early Saturday morning, is still listed in critical condition today at Salem Central Clinic.

The conditions of three other hurt in the same crash remain unchanged.

Wayne Hillyer, 32, of Hanoverton, driver of the car, is in fair condition at Youngstown South Side Hospital. He suffered possible fractures of the jaw and right shoulder.

Mrs. Annabelle Hohider, 37, of Hanoverton, wife of the owner of the tavern, and Karl Weber, 35, of Hanoverton, an occupant of the tavern at the time of the mishap, are both listed in fairly good condition at Salem City Hospital.

Mrs. Hohider suffered contusions of the chest and abdomen. Weber received contusions of the chest and lacerations of the scalp.

The accident occurred shortly after midnight Saturday when Hillyer's auto went out of control, knocked down two-foot brick walls along the sidewalk next to the Farmers National Bank, then smashed through the side of the Midway Restaurant.

Services for Mr. McIntosh, 44, will be 1:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Maple Funeral Home in Kensington with Rev. Boyd Burd officiating.

Born in Kensington April 7, 1918, he was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin McIntosh of Kensington. He was employed by the Eljer Manufacturing Company at Salem, a World War II Veteran and a member of the Bethesda Presbyterian Church of Millport.

Surviving besides his wife are two sons, Robert and Leroy of Lisbon; a three-week old daughter, Tina Marie, and a step-son, Allen MacAllister of the home; three brothers, James of Dungan; John of Minerva; Clair of Kensington; one sister, Mrs. Howard Hall of Mechanicstown and one grandchild.

Burial will be in Grove Hill Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home this evening and Tuesday afternoon and evening.

through the assembly with little or no change.

The second part of the assembly session is expected to last four to six weeks. Angola is the only question before the full assembly.

The assembly's trusteeship committee still has to set a date for ending Belgian trusteeship over the little African countries of Ruanda and Urundi. Seven officials of those countries and Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak were on hand for the discussion.

The trusteeship committee also has to deal with resolutions seeking negotiations between Britain and British Guiana on an independence date for the latter, and an inquiry whether Southern Rhodesia enjoys self-determination.

The British government announced early today it is willing to call a constitutional conference in May to discuss independence for British Guiana, a colony on the north coast of South America. Cheddi Jagan, the colony's left-wing prime minister, has been insisting on independence by May 1.

Muscular Dystrophy Chapter To Meet

The Columbiana County Muscular Dystrophy Chapter will meet tonight at 8 at the VFW post home in Lisbon, with Russell Catonese of Cleveland, executive secretary of the national organization, attending.

The fund drive held in November and December netted $1,025, with $111.65 from the canisters. A wedding band found in a contribution envelope has not been claimed, it was reported.

Twenty-five per cent of the funds remains in Columbiana County and the balance will be sent to the New York headquarters.

The Columbiana chapter which was organized less than a year ago has purchased a walker, wheel chair and bed lift and paid for medication and medical services for a patient from Lisbon. A seven-year-old boy is waiting for admission to the medical center in Cleveland.

Information concerning the organization may be had by calling Mrs. Robert Talbot.

The membership drive for Columbiana County is in progress. Persons wishing to join may contact any chapter officer.

Military Aid Continues To S. Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A U.S. Navy ship arrived today with two large Army helicopters and several observation planes to aid the forces of President Ngo Dinh Diem against the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

The aircraft ferry Breton, a converted carrier, also had seven jet fighters and a Neptune flying boat bomber on her deck, but these were to be taken to Yokosuka Naval Air Station in Japan, U.S. sources said.

Four jets bearing the markings of the U.S. Air Force 108th Fighter Squadron landed today at Saigon airport, but U.S. sources declined to comment on them.

The sources denied a report that the Breton had discharged a company of helicopters—about 20 aircraft and 200 men—farther up the coast of South Viet Nam on Sunday.

The Breton was the second ship loaded with planes to arrive here since South Viet Nam and the United States reached agreement last month on a major new military buildup.

The first ship, the Core, brought about 40 helicopters and 400 U.S. Army men to fly and service them. The helicopters are capable of carrying 14 men each.

The official silence blanketing the arrival of new U.S. equipment has led to wide speculation as to the numbers and types of weapons being brought into the war-torn republic.

Large quantities of military supplies arrive here both by air and ship nearly every day, and convoys made up of U.S. Army trucks are often seen passing through Saigon.

Haunted House Excursion Results In Youth's Death

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—An excursion to a supposedly haunted house Sunday night ended in the shotgun slaying of a University of Cincinnati freshman.

Capt. Jess Dennis of the Butler County Sheriff's Office said Harry Demoret, 82, who lived alone in the 150-year-old part frame and part log house, admitted firing the two shotgun charges that killed Jack W. Langhorst, 18, of Cincinnati.

Capt. Dennis said Demoret told him he opened fire when the youth "battered through the door" and entered the house.

Butler County officials did not file any charges against Demoret because, they said, evidence indicated young Langhorst forced his way into Demoret's home.

Langhorst was in a party of 10 youths who went to the house. Langhorst's friends told deputies they met some girls at a drive-in who told them about "haunted houses" in the vicinity. They decided to visit one.

Capt. Dennis said Demoret told them he had been in bed about a half hour when he heard voices outside his home and that suddenly someone forced his way in.

Dennis quoted Demoret as saying he grabbed a shotgun which was lying beside his bed and fired one shot. It struck Langhorst in the neck and he fell across a stack of firewood. He managed to get up, however, and then was shot in the back as he ran from the house.

Demoret told the deputies there had been other youths on the road outside his home Saturday night and he claimed others had broken into his home recently.

Demoret occupied only two rooms of the seven-room, two-story house.

After being questioned by deputies, the aged man was released to some relatives.

DiSalle Says He Will Run Own Re-Election Campaign

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle said today he would run his own re-election campaign without asking financial help from state or county Democratic committees.

"I am going to run my own primary campaign," he told newsmen. "I don't have a flower fund for it and no employees have been asked to contribute in return for jobs. I think I can stumble through this."

The governor last Friday reversed his Oct. 20 statement of non-candidacy and said he would seek another four-year term to work for his mental health, education and welfare programs.

Crash

51, of Winona Lake, Ind., received moderate damage when they collided on Alternate Rt. 14, two miles east of Salem, at 5:45 p.m. Saturday. The Patrol said Clark was traveling east and Miller was headed west when they collided in the center of the road on a curve.

Donald G. Whaley, 16, of 583 W. Pershing St., Salem, escaped injury when his car went out of control in the Greenford School parking lot, causing considerable property damage, at 10 p.m. Saturday.

According to the Patrol, Whaley drove out of the parking lot and across Rt. 165 where he struck a utility pole and a mail box. The car, continuing out of control, moved back across the highway through a chain fence and across the school yard and struck the school building.

A few bricks on the building were chipped, the chain fence was broken and shrubbery around the school was torn up.

years has been in the Congo," Gore said. "Success in the Congo, which means success in Africa, will represent our biggest victory since World War II."

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., denounced the bond issue proposal Sunday, asserting it would provide the Soviet Union "a long-time escape avenue" for refusing to pay its share of the Congo operation.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he is "hopeful that we can get through what the administration requested, and that is a $100-million bond issue underwritten by us which will be repayable."

The U.N. deficit is expected to reach $170 million by June 30. The world organization has been unable to collect special assessments for its Congo operations and its true supervision in the Gaza Strip.

He said money raised at the Democratic $100-a-plate dinner, at which more than 3,000 heard President Kennedy speak here, would not be used in the primary unless the state committee approved. DiSalle recalled that most of the Democratic committees in Ohio's 88 counties had urged him to reconsider and run.

The governor said he would establish campaign headquarters here and in Cleveland, manned by volunteers. Otherwise his plans are incomplete, he added.

He termed "rather violent" the reaction of Democrat Attorney General Mark McElroy, also a candidate for governor, to his own announcement for governor.

"So far his attack has been largely personal but I don't intend to get down to that," DiSalle said. Commenting on McElroy's criticism of DiSalle's tax program, the governor said he felt the attorney general advocated lower taxes.

"If he is for lower taxes," DiSalle said, "he ought to say it and then follow up by stating what programs he is going to reduce."

"And he ought to say if that includes cutting expenditures of the attorney general's office in the future."

DiSalle declined to elaborate on his own contention that the state could operate on a pay-as-you-go basis without a drastic increase in taxes. "There's no use in running the whole campaign today," he said with a laugh.

But he reiterated his stand against a state income tax.

He told newsmen that he planned to disregard attempts by a Boston attorney to obtain a lie detector test for Dr. Samuel H. Shephard, convicted Cleveland wife-slayer serving a life sentence.

He said the legal course still open would be a request to the pardon and parole commission to consider action on behalf of Shephard.

The governor said today is the deadline for filing briefs in the extradition case of Mrs. Willie Mae Mallory but that he planned no decision until later. The governor did not elaborate.

Mrs. Mallory, free under bond in Cleveland, is wanted in Monroe, N. C., to face charges of kidnapping a white couple there during racial disorders. David K. Purkey, his clemency aide, conducted an extradition hearing last Dec. 19 and gave Cleveland attorney Bernard A. Berkman time to file written reasons why she should be allowed to remain in Ohio.

The governor plans to make a speech in Middleport tonight and go to Cincinnati Tuesday for the second in his series of public seminars on state finances.

Youngster Nips Pott In Extra Playoff

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—There's nothing like money to boost a golfer's morale, so it was a happy Tommy Jacobs of Bermuda Dunes, Calif., who led the way today to the Bing Crosby clambake after winning the $25,000-San Diego Open.

Jacobs, whose last good win was at Denver in 1958, pocketed $3,500 as the winner of a dramatic sudden death playoff with another young tournament pro, Johnny Pott of Ocean Springs, Miss.

Both are 26, both are ex-collegians—Jacobs from Southern California, Pott from Louisiana State.

Jacobs shot a final-round 65, six under par for 277, and finished early. Pott, in a better position at the start of the day, scored 69 for 277.

Pott made his bid in a pair of threesomes that included Mike Souchak, Bob Goolby, Art Wall Jr., Gary Player and Jay Hebert.

Jacobs was tied for 15th place Sunday morning. Pott was still close going into the final nine holes, but few gave him much chance to hang on with the likes of Souchak and Goolby, the cool leaders at this point.

But it was the old pros who flubbed opportunities and the younger men who battled away.

Low-Scoring Tigers Keep Winning

Wittenberg Coach Stresses Defense

By FRITZ HOWELL

Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Wittenberg Coach Ray Mears appears to be swimming upstream against the racehorse basketball trend—but he's doing a great job of it.

While most mentors are going for great goals of points, the Tiger tutor is winning by clamping the foe with a great defense. His record speaks for the system's effectiveness.

Wittenberg won its 39th straight Ohio Conference game Saturday night, 49-39 over Akron. Earlier the Tigers nipped the Zips 54-37. In winning seven of eight other games, Akron averaged 76.5 points. Against the tenacious Tigers the Zip average of 38 was less than half the usual output.

But the Akron case isn't isolated. Of 11 foes to face Wittenberg this year, Capital's 46-point spree was tops. Even in defeat, the Tigers allowed few points. Transylvania beat 'em 39-38, and Louisville 44-36.

Wittenberg won the Ohio Conference crown the last three years, and is headed for it again. The Tigers took the NCAA small college title last spring, and they have triumphed in both Ohio Conference championship tournaments. Only one Wittenberg player was among the top 24 scorers in the loop last year as the Tigers compiled an overall 25-4 record, and he was 14th.

Mears contends high scoring isn't necessary in winning games. He has a point, for Central State has averaged 91.6 and lost 4 of 10, and Rio Grande has a 7-6 record with an 86-point average. Wittenberg is averaging 54.6, second lowest in the state and just a shade over Oberlin's 53.1.

While the Tigers were defending their top spot in the Ohio loop Saturday, the usual setups and upsets were occurring on the Buckeye hardwoods.

Ohio State's top-ranked Bucks made it a dozen in a row with an easy 89-64 win over Michigan, sending the Fred Taylor team into a tie with Wisconsin for the Big Ten top spot with 2-0. Both the Badgers and Bucks have scored 174 in their pair of conference conquests.

Dayton, after a pair of setbacks, answered the "burning in effigy" of Coach Tom Blackburn by beating favored Louisville 72-64 for a 10-3 record; Bowling Green's ninth ranked Falcons swept Miami aside 85-73 to assume sole possession of the Mid-American loop lead; Xavier's underdog Musketeers hung a convincing 87-66 defeat on sixth-ranked Villanova, and Wilberforce finally won 83-56 over Columbus Business University.

Wilberforce's conquest gave each of the state's teams at least one victory, and Ohio State is the only one which hasn't lost.

During the week the Ohio teams won 15 and lost 11 against outsiders, and they now have a 120-69 inter-state record for the year. The big loss to an outsider last week was second-place Cincinnati's 70-68 overtime bow to Bradley at Peoria.

Salem Jayvees Continue Win Streak; Beat Ravenna 51-36

Coach Karl Zellers' Salem Jayvee basketball squad ended the first half of its 1961-62 season undefeated by slipping past the Ravenna Reserves 51-36 Saturday night at Ravenna.

The win was the ninth consecutive of the season and 24th in a row over the last two seasons.

Salem moved to an 11-7 lead at the end of the first stanza and led 21-17 at intermission. The Ravens, however, rallied in the third quarter and were ahead 31-28 as the game entered the final period.

The locals, led by Rick Platt's 10 counters, displayed great effort as they hooped 23 tallies in the final period while holding the hosts to five to gain the win.

Salem displayed a balanced scoring attack as three players ended the game in double figures. Platt finished with 16 points to pace the locals, but was followed closely by Dave Capel with 15 and Marlin Waller with 13. Chuck Dushman had 16 for the losers.

Zellers will send his charges in to action again tomorrow night against the Youngstown, Rayen Reserves on the local hardwoods. Game time is set for 7 p.m.

Locals Will Entertain Rayen Tomorrow Night

By LYNN BROWNE

News Sports Writer

The Salem Quakers gained a 56-50 decision over the Ravenna Ravens Saturday night at Ravenna but were forced to change their style of play in order to secure the victory.

Ravenna played a very slow, possession type game and the locals, who usually play at break-neck speed, had to change their tactics to cope with the Ravens' offense.

"We beat them at their own game," Salem coach John Cabas said. "It was a new type game for us and we had to adjust ourselves to it."

"The one thing we couldn't do was push the panic button," Cabas said. "We were real happy with the way the boys kept their poise and confidence."

"Our bench strength is what beat them," he commented. "Gary Jeffries, Sam Watson and Bob King all came off the bench at different times to spark the team. I think, sitting on the bench, they were better able to see what was going on and knew what to do when they went in the game."

One thing that seemed to displease the coach was that the locals hit on only 16 of 26 foul shots. "I'm not worried about it though," he said. "I know it will come."

CO-CAPTAIN BOB ESKAY was high point man for the locals again Saturday night. The talented jump-shot artist hit for 10 goals and three charity tosses for 23 points. Gary Jeffries and Bill Beery were next high for Salem with nine points each.

Ravenna's Rick Montecalvo provided the spark for the hosts. The six foot senior hit on six long outside shots in the second half to keep the Ravens in contention. He ended the game with 19 tallies.

Clair Muscaro, the hosts' head coach, was very impressed with the Quakers. "They never lost their poise or confidence," he said. "They played the entire game—even when they were behind—as if they had a 15 or 20 point lead. In my opinion that's the mark of a very fine ball team."

Muscaro had much praise for his squad, too. "They played 100 per cent ball," he said. "When a team plays all-out like that, what more can a coach ask?" he questioned.

"This was 'the' game on our schedule and we were ready for them," he said. "We couldn't match their shooting; they were just too much for us."

In the first period the Ravens jumped to an early five point lead and, with the exception of the score being tied once, led the entire period. Eskay hooped a jump-shot with 21 seconds left to pull the locals within one point, 12-11, as the quarter ended.

The second period saw Ravenna lead by three points most of the way before Salem over-hauled them in the last two minutes to end the half with a 27-24 advantage.

THE QUAKERS widened their lead to nine midway in the third stanza, but Ravenna battled back and were down only 44-38 as the game went into the last eight minutes. Early in the fourth frame, Salem moved to a 10-point lead and then staved off a final Ravenna spurge to take home the victory.

The Quakers return to the local hardwoods tomorrow night to battle the Youngstown Rayen Tigers. Rayen's head coach Ted Theodosoff will have three regulars from last year's squad in the starting quintet. Bill Michels, John Nanosky and Mickey Wolosonovich, all senior returnees, will start along with juniors Roy Winston and Mark Jaffee.

Michels at 6-2 and Nanosky at 6-0 will start at the forwards while six-foot Jaffee and Wolosonovich at 5-9 will go a the guard slots.

Winston is 6-3 and plays center. Theodosoff said he has scouted the Quakers and feels that they are all good ball players. "They're good shooters and good ball handlers," he commented.

The head coach said it's necessary to stop all five of the locals because when you "take it easy on one, he's the one that kills you."

Reserve action is slated to get under way at 7 p.m.

Brown Voted MVP In Game

West Wins Pro Bowl Tilt 31-30 In Final 2 Seconds

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The West emerged from the 1962 Pro Bowl, one of the wildest ever, with a 31-30 victory—but it took a combination of triumph and tragedy to overturn the underdog East.

The National Football League's postseason thriller was witnessed Sunday by 57,409 coliseum fans and a national television audience of millions.

There was a 12-yard touchdown pass by Johnny Unitas to Jon Arnett in the last two seconds, a last-minute fumble by the East's Jim Brown that paved the way for the final West score, and a blocked conversion attempt in the third period.

After it was over, Brown named the most valuable player—said he felt more like a goat.

With five minutes left, the brilliant Cleveland fullback shook off four tacklers and bulldozed 70 yards to a touchdown, giving the East a 30-24 edge.

Then on a routine running play with slightly more than a minute left, Brown fumbled. Chicago's Bill George, who pried the ball loose from Brown, recovered it.

With a minute left and the ball on the East's 41, Unitas went to work. The Baltimore star passed for 15 yards to rookie Mike Ditka of Chicago and 14 yards to Colt teammate Lenny Moore. With 15 seconds left, a Unitas pass to Moore fell incomplete.

As the seconds ticked away, Unitas faded, barely eluding the grasp of New York's Andy Robustelli. Rolling to his left, the quarterback spotted elusive Los Angeles halfback Jon Arnett alone in the end zone and tossed him a perfect strike.

Jim Martin of Detroit kicked the winning conversion, his fourth of the day. Martin also booted a 27-yard field goal in the second period.

Another crucial play occurred in the third quarter when Green Bay's Henry Jordan and Detroit's Dick (Night Train) Lane broke through to bat down an Eastern conversion attempt. Jordan was named most valuable lineman. The blocked point eventually spelled defeat for the East, the loser in the last three Pro Bowl games. The West has an 8-4 edge in the series.

Unitas, always unflinching, said of the winning TD toss: "Mike Ditka was the primary target, but he was held up at the line. I was lucky to get out of a trap."

Unitas, most valuable player in the '60s and '61 Pro Bowls, completed 13 of 23 passes for 162 yards and two touchdowns.

Next to Brown, the East's unhappy player was aging quarterback Y. A. Tittle, who tossed two TD passes and completed 15 of 26 pass attempts.

The East outgained the West in first downs, 19-17; rushing 171-73, and passing yardage, 218-172.

Steers Win Cage Playoff Over Pipers

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Kansas City Steers go into the second half of the American Basketball League campaign today wearing the title of champions.

The Steers won the first-half title in a playoff over the week-end, defeating the Cleveland Pipers two games to one. The title guarantees Kansas City a spot in the playoffs at the end of the season, although it looks as though no special pass will be necessary if the Steers keep on playing the way they have been.

Kansas City, the top team in the league's Western Division, displayed a strong defense and accurate shooting as they downed Cleveland 120-104 Sunday in the third game of the series.

Nick Mantis wound up with a total of 25 points for the Steers and Larry Staveran collected 24.

Jack Adams of Cleveland led in scoring with 30 points, all but seven in the first half. Larry Siegfried assumed the Cleveland scoring burden in the second half, when he scored all 26 of his points.

Undefeated Poland Raps Lisbon 61-42

Poland High raced to its ninth straight victory and continued to look like the favorite for the Tri-County League cage title with an impressive 61-42 win over Lisbon in the Poland gym Saturday night.

The Bulldogs picked up their fifth straight loop win without a loss to stay atop the loop. Lisbon is now 3-2 in the league and 3-6 over-all.

Tim Walter and Dave Barnhizer, each tallied 16 points to spark the Bulldogs, while Craig Pannier featured for the Blue Devils with 14.

Poland was also the winner in the Reserves game with a 45-35 decision over the Lisbon Jayvees.

Spent $20 a Day on Cigars

Kovacs Became Movie Star The Hard Way--Cussing Boss

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There were fewer more colorful characters than Ernie Kovacs, a comic who spent more on cigars than many people earn—about 20 dollars a day.

He came to town with a reputation of being one of television's most inventive comics—a writer, producer, star and director of many shows that were television classics.

He soon became a movie star by doing it the hard way. In his first picture, he told the toughest studio boss in town to go to hell.

As a result, he wound up with a $600,000 house, a price of $200,000 a picture and a reputation as one of the brightest movie comedy finds in years.

People in Hollywood who told off the late Harry Cohn and kept working at Columbia Studios could be counted on the thumb of one hand.

"We were making 'Operation Mad Ball,'" Kovacs once recalled. "It was a party sequence with lots of drunken GIs and lots of pretty French girls. About 4 a.m., this character comes up to me and says, 'I hear you've been having a ball chasing these pretty starlets around the set all night.'"

"Actually, that's what I was supposed to be doing but I figured it was none of this guy's business so I told him to go to hell."

Kovacs later was told that it was Cohn, boss of Columbia Pictures.

"For some reason, Harry and I became great friends after that. Don't ask me why."

Kovacs and his wife, Edie Adams, lived like movie stars used to live.

His hilly driveway had an asphalt turntable that spins cars around like a railroad roundhouse and heads them downhill. Little things like that turned what was once a $100,000 home into a $600,000 residence.

In Kovacs' den, there were such things as an indoor waterfall and a wine cellar that had artificial cobwebs on the bottles, placed there by a special effects man of ABC-TV.

Kovacs was one of the town's better known gamblers.

Once a friend called him from New York. Kovacs asked if he had a deck of cards in his desk. The voice 3,000 miles away replied yes.

"Okay," said Kovacs, "cut them. I say red for $500."

Ernie recalled that there was silence on the other end of the line, then profanity.

He next gave his opponent a bet that the next card would be a spade for $500.

Once again there was silence on the other end. And the next mail brought a check for $1,000.

Kovacs' TV shows, always conceived by him, were classics. A recent one was done without a word of dialogue and got rave reviews from critics.

He was a gourmet in his food tastes, a frequent diner at such restaurants as Chasen's, Romanoff's and Larue's.

Then he hired a cook and paid her a thousand dollars a month.

"She is so great that I eat home every night now," he said recently, "because I'm afraid I'll miss something for supper."

Director Richard Quine who directed his first picture and several afterward, once said that Kovacs was so brilliant with comedy that he didn't need to see a script.

"The best way to work with Ernie is to tell him a minute before shooting what the scene is all about and then let him create the comedy himself," Quine said.

For a long time, Columbia typed him as a comic villain, usually as a stiff army captain.

"I fight at being type-cast," he once said. "I don't want audiences seeing my pictures 10 years from now and saying: 'Oh yes, I remember him—the guy who always played fat captains.'"

"So I diet between roles. I lost 40 pounds for 'Our Man in Havana.' That shows I can play thin captains, too."
